- ❖ This new build bathroom has hints of soft industrial style in its signature details and mix of materials. Cement wall and floor tiles, a marble-topped wood vanity, a black framed mirror, and black geometric pendant light with an exposed Edison-style bulb and a spacious glass shower add up to a polished take on livable industrial style that doesn't require a warehouse conversion to work.

❖ BLACK MARBLE

Elegant with an overwhelming personality. That's Black marble, a natural stone that has an effect on everyone. The presence of white veins, as in the case of Negro Marquina, augments, if this is possible, its beauty.

- ❖ Marble is a royal material, it's refined and expensive. It's the best and most exquisite material for a bathroom design due to its look and durability; from the ancient times it's a material to make bathrooms and saunas. There are several types and shades of marble, it combines with wood and stone well. Marble lets to make a minimalist bathroom but more often designers create exquisite and refined décor in vintage style.

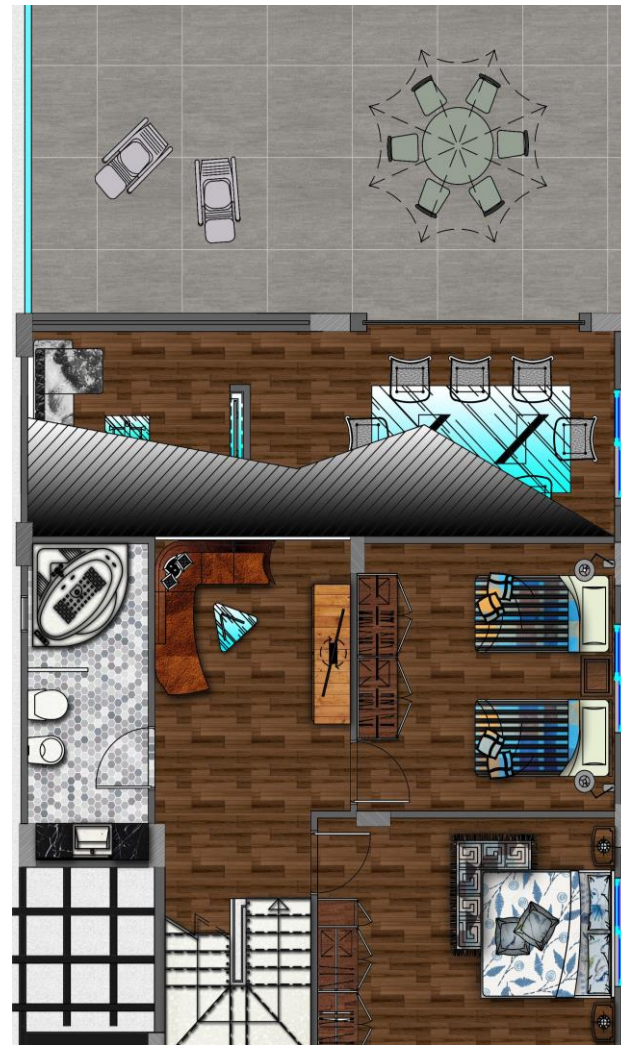

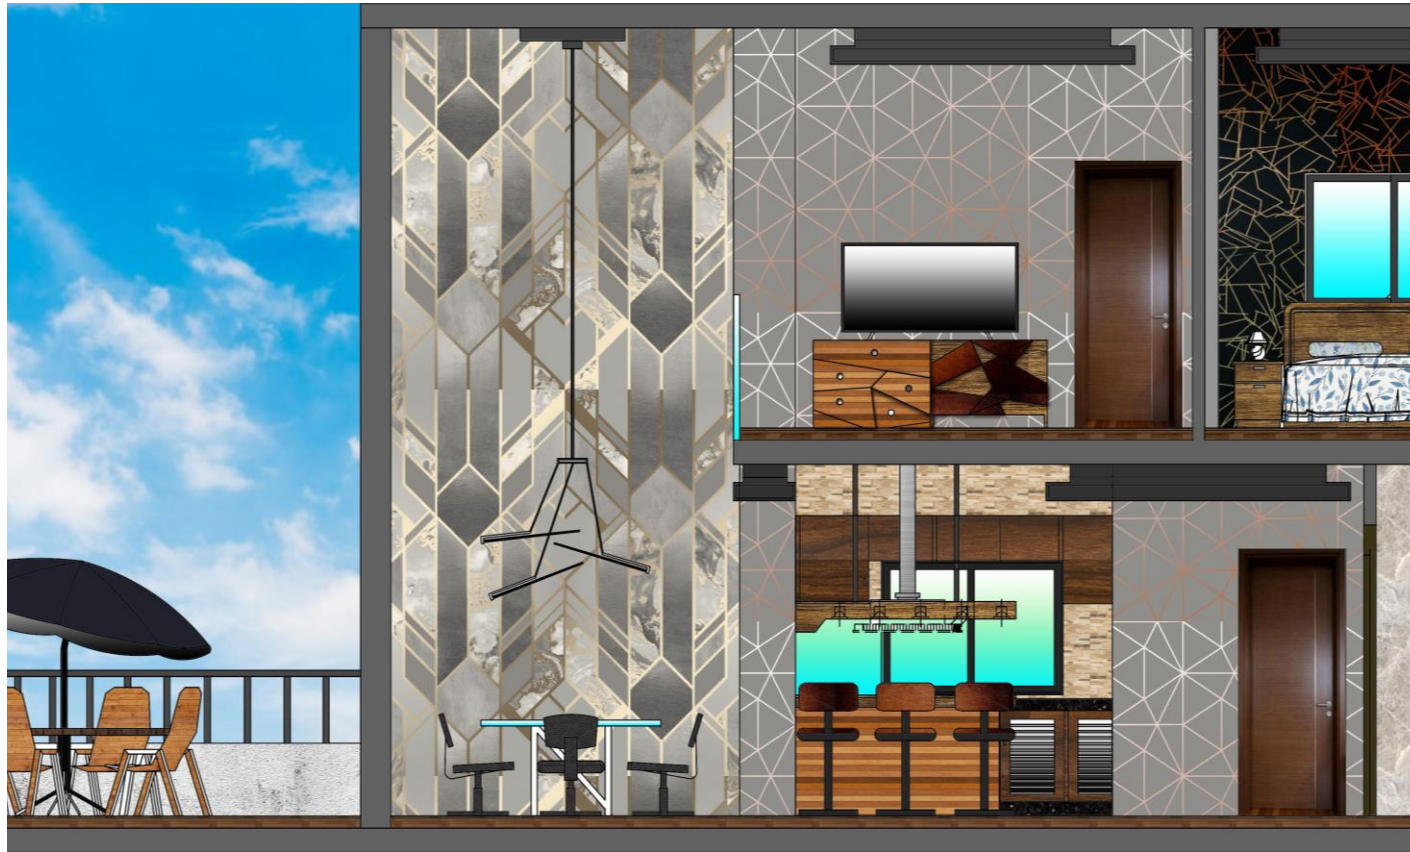

❖ A duplex for a multi-family home that has two units in one building — regardless of how those homes are arranged. So we can see here a units stacked on top of each other.

❖ Modern design features wooden and earth-friendly elements. In order to maintain a streamlined look and feel and to keep the space from feeling clinical, modern interior design styles tend to use a substantial mix of natural materials. These include stone, wood, and leather.

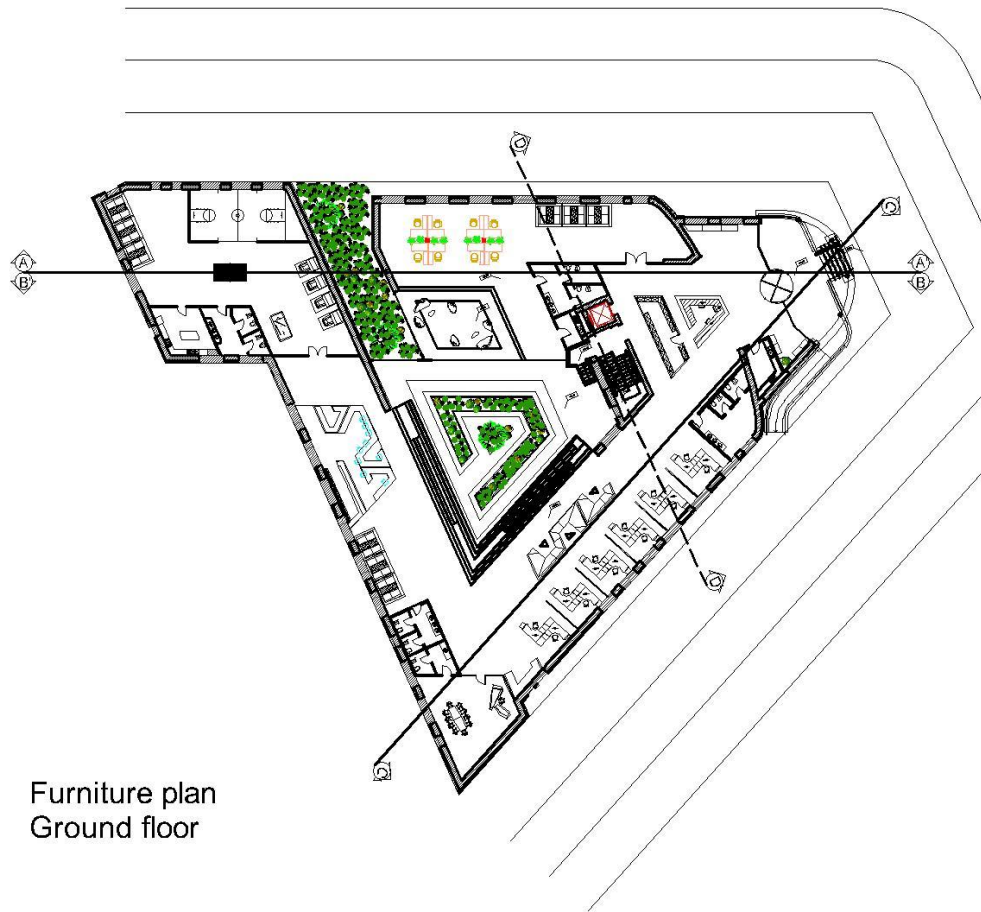

- ❖ Here's a tiny room with a full-width desk, large arched window with original brick walls painted white. While small, this is a comfortable and attractive place to work. This is a fabulous example of a small office with a special desk in deconstruction style.
